- Apply through the Coimbra Group electronic application process.
- Submit only one application to a single university. Multiple applications will not be considered valid.
- Submit all information in English.

Please note that the universities listed above (“Participating universities”) are the only eligible host institutions for the 2026 edition of this Scholarship Programme. Further details about each university, including their research fields, can be found directly on their respective websites.

Application process

The online application deadline is Sunday, 10 May 2026 at midnight (Brussels time). Applications must be submitted via the Coimbra Group website: www.coimbra-group.eu/activities/scholarships.

Applicants must:

- Review the specific conditions for each participating Coimbra Group university.
- Identify and contact a research supervisor at the selected host university (e.g. via the university website or the indicated contact email address at the selected host institution). The Coimbra Group Office cannot assist in finding supervisors.
- Provide their supervisor’s name and contact details in the application form.
- Obtain a letter/email of acceptance from the supervisor confirming that the candidate has been accepted to carry out research under their supervision, explicitly stating their willingness to supervise the work programme of the candidate during the research stay.
- Upload the acceptance letter/email together with the application form.

Applications without this proof of acceptance will not be considered. Applicants are not required to submit other documents at this stage, although host universities may request additional documentation later.

Application confirmation

The Coimbra Group Office will acknowledge each application individually. Within two weeks of submission, candidates should receive an email from the Coimbra Group Office confirming whether their application has been validated. This will be the only acknowledgement of receipt.

If no confirmation is received, the application may not have been submitted correctly or a technical issue may have occurred. In that case, please contact info@coimbra-group.eu immediately, and no later than 24 May 2026.

Mobility period

Research visits will take place during the 2026/2027 academic year. The exact dates and structure of the visit must be agreed upon directly between the selected candidate and the host supervisor/university.

All practical details concerning the mobility period, scholarship payments, certificates and visa procedures must be discussed directly with the host university, not with the Coimbra Group Office. The language of instruction is usually the national language of the host country, although in many universities English can often be used as the working language.

Selection procedure

The Coimbra Group Office will conduct an administrative check of all applications to ensure that all eligibility requirements are met.

Host universities evaluate and select candidates after this eligibility check. They may request additional documents.

Previously selected candidates can apply for a second grant, but they will not be prioritised.

All applicants will be informed of the result of their application by the Coimbra Group Office by the end of July 2026. Once the selection has been finalised, successful candidates may receive a separate letter of invitation directly from their host university.

Obligations of the grant holder

- Comply with the legal requirements of the host country (in terms of insurance, visa, etc.).
- Ensure that their home institution will grant them a leave of absence to undertake the proposed research visit in Europe.
- Confirm acceptance of the scholarship under the conditions offered by the host university and the benefits outlined in this Call for Applications, by responding to the email from the Coimbra Group Office within the specified deadline.
- Acknowledge the Coimbra Group scholarship in any publications resulting from the research.
